INDEX OF SUBJECTS

Abdomen, surgery of in infancy, use of epidural anaesthesia, 23
Acid-base balance
  acidosis: effect on circulation, 178; occurring during hypothermia, 123 changes in, produced by hypothermia, 132 control of, during open-heart surgery (Zingg), 123
  during extracorporeal circulation (Zingg), 123 effect of: halothane-ether and methoxyflurane on, 398; Innovan–N_2O anaesthesia on, 60 intra-operative monitoring of, 130
Acidosis, see Acid-base balance
Adeno-tonsillectomy, in children, arterial blood gas studies associated with anaesthesia for (McCaughey, Holm & Hayakawa), 460
Aerosol therapy, in preoperative preparation of the asthmatic patient, 418
Alcoholism, effect of, on induction and maintenance of general anaesthesia (Lee, Cho & Dobkin), 354
Anaesthesia
  Canadian pioneers in (Griffith), 557
  caudal, in treatment of chronic low-back pain (Masson & Matte), 609 circulation in (Moffitt & Sessler), 173 comparison of cardiovascular, respiratory and metabolic effects of halothane-ether azeotropic mixture with those of methoxyflurane in man (Déry, Pelletier & Jacques), 394 duration of, with thiopental when combined with mannitol, urea, sodium bicarbonate, or tromethamine ("THAM," "Tris") (Dobkin, Israel & Byles), 159 electrical, use of a combination of alternating and direct electrical current in dogs (McIntyre & Voloshin), 168 epidural: influence of, on cardiac excitability in profound hypothermia (Galindo & Sprouse), 614; in paediatric surgery at Hamilton General Hospital (Ruston), 12, technique, 12, 28; intermittent injection device during continuous (Cox & Spoerel), 72 for adenotonsillectomy in children, arterial blood gas studies associated with (McCaughey, Holm & Hayakawa), 460 for bronchoscopy in children (Kay & Allan), 509
  for glomectomy in the asthmatic patient (Gain & Tulloch), 417
  for laryngoscopy in children (Kay & Allan), 509
  for thymectomy in the myasthenic patient, 300
  for transsphenoidal hypophysectomy (Brunelle & Lepage), 101
  general: causing peripheral nerve injuries, 515; effects of alcoholism, morphinism, and barbiturate resistance on induction and maintenance (Lee, Cho & Dobkin), 354; in the dental office: (Webb), 35; operative scope, 38; pharmacology and techniques, 38; premedication, 38; recovery supervision, 39
  in Stokes-Adams disease (Wrigley), 291
  Innovan–N_2O, in normal men (Dobkin, Israel & Byles), 41 interaction of drugs used in, 269
  intravenous regional: (Cox), 503; clinical use, 506; complications, 505; equipment, 503; technique, 503 local, causing peripheral nerve injuries, 515 methoxyflurane, blood glucose levels during (Gottlieb & Sweet), 7 observations on anatomical dead space during (Déry, Pelletier & Jacques), 476 obstetrical: halothane in (Allard & Guimond), 83; methoxyflurane in, 187 paediatric, for infants with tracheal obstruction (Relton & Conn), 147 peripheral nerve injuries associated with (Britt & Gordon), 514 post-operative vomiting, 339 regional, intravenous administration (Dawkins et al.), 243; new local anaesthetic agent for intravenous administration (Hooper), 247 regional block, using intravenous local anaesthetic agents, 503 spinal: causing peripheral nerve injuries, 515; effect on circulation, 177 Anaesthetic agents and techniques for renal homotransplants (LeVine & Virtue), 425
  antibacterial activity of (Barry, Paiement & Dubeau), 640 dilution of (Letter to the Editor), 195
  gallstones and (Letter to the Editor), 194 toxicity causing peripheral nerve injuries, 516
  see also Names of specific agents

Anaesthetists, role of, in diagnosis of myasthenis gravis (Jenkins et al.), 633
Analgesia, alert (neuroleptanalgesia), 264
Analgesics, sedatives, antidotes, and their interaction (Dobkin), 252
Aneurysms, intracranial, hypothermia in treatment of, 382
Anticholinesterase drugs, use of, in preoperative preparation of the myasthenia gravis patient for thymectomy, 299
Antidotes, sedatives, analgesics, and their interaction (Dobkin), 266
Apparatus: Astrup's for monitoring acid-base balance, 130; cuffed tracheostomy tubes (with particular reference to the James tube) (Bain & Spoerel), 598; heat exchanger for use during blood transfusion (Burke), 549; intermittent injection device for continuous epidural anaesthesia (Cox & Spoerel), 72; Nunn blood gas predictor, observation of use of (McIntyre & Drummond), 313
Association des Anesthésistes–Réanimateurs d'Expression Française, 197
Asthma: anaesthesia for glomectomy in the asthmatic patient (Gain & Tulloch), 417; preoperative preparation of the asthmatic patient for anaesthesia, 418

Back, chronic low back pain, treatment by caudal anaesthesia (Masson & Matte), 609
Barbiturates: effect on circulation, 176; resistance, effect of, on induction and maintenance of general anaesthesia (Lee, Cho & Dobkin), 354
Block, see Anaesthesia
Blood: arterial, postoperative oxygen tension, 594; glucose levels during methoxyflurane anaesthesia (Gottlieb & Sweet), 7; transfusion, heat exchanger for use during (Burke), 549
Blood gases: arterial studies, associated with anaesthesia for adenotonsillectomy in children (McCaughey, Holm & Hayakawa), 460; studies, in postoperative care program (Stephen & Talton), 586
Blood pressure, simple means of measuring, 180

Chloroform, death from, at Toronto General Hospital (Roland), 437
Circadian susceptibility rhythm: to fluothane (Matthews, Marte & Halberg), 280; to librium, 285
Circulation, inadequate, determination of causes, 179
Circulatory system: effect of anaesthesia on (Moffitt & Sessler), 173; effect of Innovan–N_2O anaesthesia on, 52, 66
Citanest®, a new local anaesthetic agent for intravenous regional anaesthesia (Hooper), 247
Clermont, Moïse, Canadian pioneer in anaesthesia, 562
Cyclopropane: anaesthesia, blood glucose levels in, 7; effect on circulation, 175

Dead space, anatomical, observations during anaesthesia (Déry, Pelletier & Jacques), 476
Decamethonium: antibacterial activity of, 643; neuromuscular block produced by, in the newborn infant, 4; use of, in diagnosis of myasthenia gravis, 635
Decarboxylase inhibitors, effect of, on cardiovascular system's ability to react to stress, 322
Dental drill, danger from (Charlebois), 190; Letter to the Editor, 552
Dentistry, general anaesthesia in (Webb), 35
Diethyl ether, effect on circulation, 174
Diuretics, effect of, on ability of cardiovascular system to react to stress, 321
Droperidol (Inapsine®), pharmacology of, 41
Drugs: antiemetic, influence on postoperative vomiting, 335; depolarizing, effect on the newborn infant, 1; effect on liver, as a causative factor in postoperative liver damage and jaundice, 457; inhibiting cardiovascular reactivity to stress (Charlebois & Gledhill), 318; psychosedative, 252; sedative, analgesic, antidotes, and their interaction (Dobkin), 252; sedative, development of tolerance to, 367; see also Names of specific agents
d-Tubocurarine, effect on neuromuscular transmission in the newborn infant, 1

Edrophonium (Tensilon), effect on neuromuscular block produced by d-tubocurarine in the newborn infant, 1
Electromyography, in diagnosis of myasthenia gravis, 634
Emphysema: surgical, caused by dental drill, 190; three unusual cases (Charlebois), 104
